THE BRYAN BOOM.

The Populist Democratic convention at Chicago was in a peculiar pre identical to-day, and the friends of Jeff Davis said twenty years ago, that dicament from its inception to its the government will have occasion be "the cause which they contended for close. WREAT WILL BE SHORT.

C. Wood Davis Says the Yield All Over The World is Light.

C. Wood Davis, the noted crop Kansas, and is conceded to know more about the world's food supply than any other man in America, declares that the current reports that the world is full of wheat and that Europe will produce this year 100,-000,000 bushels more wheat than in 1895 is absurd. He sums up the present conditions as follows. Drought men which went to work several months has prevailed to a damaging extent ago to capture the organization of the in Western Central Europe, except in Democratic party have accomplished Belgium and France. Russia's spring wheat will not be a full crop. India's wheat crop will be deficient one third. Where Will You go?

If you leave the Republican party where will you go? You will be a wanderer-a political tramp-knock ing at the back door of some strange party for permission to saw wood with nothing to say. After all, does it not seem that we would hardly be justified in rebelling against the party on account of its having simply declared in words for a policy which the government has been pursuing for nearly twenty-five years? A policy under which no discontent had manifested itself until the Demo cratic party came into power and interfered with the harmony of Repub lican methods. Had the Republican party remained in control of the government with all its helpful legis lation undisturbed by the ruthless hand of the Democratic party, would not the country have continued in its former prosperous condition? Whether it is a gold standard, or a silver standard, or a bimetallic standard, it appears to make no difference. We have been as prosperous under one financial policy as under another, and would have remained so if the awful blunder had not been made which placed Cleveland at the head of affairs. Instead of laying troubles at the door of our financial system should we not rather lay them at the door of the Democratic party? Will we be so unkind and thoughtless as to hold the Republican party responsible for the condition of the country as it now exists and which was brought about by the overthrow of the party. Restore the Republican party to power and prosperity will return to the country, no difference what standard of money we may have. There is wit, wisdom and enterprise enough in the United States to beat Europe at its own game and bring her, in sack cloth and ashes, at the feet of Uncle Sam, on a gold or any other basis, if we will only go to work in earnest to do it. Is it not, therefor, a change of administration that we need more than a change in our financial policy? Will we get that change even if we vote the ticket nominated at Chicago on the 10th of this month? Will it not be the same old butter and hair garnished over with free silver froth? After all the awaking influence of the St. Louis convention, let every Republican straighten himself up, stiffen his Dosworth Book Co., stationery...

Wheat, Meat and Fruit.

It is estimated that from fifty to sixty per cent of the corn raised in the lower flagrant appeal to passion, that set the leading Democratic papers in valley of the Great Arkansas last year remains unsold and unfed, because of the low prices of grain and meat. The wheat and oats harvest of the present year are already barvested and the corn yield promises to be greater than that of last year. Hundreds of great fields in Sedgwick, Summer, Cowley, Reno and Harvey are already practically made, with a magnificent yield assured. This section of the state seems burthened by its pacductions. The hay crop will be immense, As for fruit it is an absolute drug on the market. Peaches, plums and berries can be had almost for the statistician, who formerly lived in asking, with no demand for apples. The Wichita market has been over-run with homegrown berries and tons upon tons of fruit will be left to rot and go to waste in the absence of any demand at remunerative prices.—Eagle.

Ickelbeimer's name was not mentioned nce in the Democratic convention.

Bryan was nominated by a sentence rather than by a speech. The Convention had listened to Altgeld and Tillman, and when it beard the anarchistic ideas of these men put into ear-tickling phrases they could not help being carried away by the word-fancier. "Do not press the crown of thorns upon the brow of labor; do not crucify mankind upon a cross of gold." That's what did it.

McKinley will make campaign speeches if Bryan does. It has been the rule for presidential candidates to refrain from canvassing and extended speechmaking but this year is an unusual one and all political rules and precedents seems lost

Sewell says the sensation of being a candidate is good. It is the other sensation of getting left, that is bad. Sewell is rich, and he can stand defeat.

Zola says that in preparing to write his novel, "Money," his financial studies were the severest of his life and yet he doubts if he ever understood anything that he read. This will be a comfort to the large number of American citizens who are steeping their minds in the literature of the silver question without any lucid results.-Globe-Democrat.
